Announcements:

No Meeting Next Week (April 21)**

Member from yesteryear: Joanne Blystone introduced Ken and Laurel Smith to the Club. Ken was a past member who has retired to Florida.

Cinco de Mayo: Joanne Blystone reminded the Club that in lieu of a meeting, she will be hosting a Cinco de Mayo party at her house. A sign-up sheet can be found in the book.

Feed the Homeless: Troy Lochheed reminded the Club that this quarter's Feed the Homeless is April 30 at 5:00 p.m. He also mentioned much needed donated clothes can be delivered to him up till that date. A sign-up sheet can be found in the book.

Shirts: Eric Colvin announced once again, if you have not received your Rotary golf shirt to please see him.

Dan Stover Competition: Mitchell Horst reminded the Club that the regional Dan Stover music competition will be held at Anthem Country Club 6:00 p.m. on April 22.

District Conference: Josh Satterlee reminded the Club that District Conference is May 15-16 and the Club will be hosting a suite "with booze."

Recognitions:

Twin Brother from another Mother: Madam President ran into Tom Martin and Bruce Pope at Angel Park (where she is known as "The Queen") and noticed they were wearing the same golf shoes. After asking what they shot (they tied apparently) and they dodged the question, they were recognized $50 each.

Photo bomb: Shawn Callahan was asked to identify a number of people in photos of him. He said "Charlie, Freddie and Tiger" . . . must be nice. He said he liked that Bubba won the Masters and that there are no birds in the trees at Augusta. All the bird noises are piped-in. He was recognized $25.

Signs, Signs everywhere there's signs . . . Rich was asked how business was going and he said "very busy." Then he was asked about the scholarship committee and he said that they had received at least 30 applications. After being asked a question about YesCo signs he was credited $25.

Get your motor running . . . Scott Baranoff was recognized $100 for his motorcycle travels to Arizona where he, and 70,000 of his best friends, attended Arizona Bikefest. He also indicated that he would not be in town this next week as he was taking his daughter down to UCLA where she was recently accepted.

When you are sullen, go to . . . Disney Land! Joanne Blystone was asked where she had been recently and she indicated that her uncle had passed. As a way to brighten her mood, she went to the happiest place on earth where she said she needed a much-needed dose of happiness.

Taxes? I don't care about no stinkin' taxes! Madam President told Rebecca Collett she was very impressed that she was in attendance, seeing that it was two days before taxes were due. Rebecca mentioned she was follows her calendar and her calendar told her to go to Rotary.

Our Program:

Gale Wm. Frasure II -

General Manager/Chief Engineer at Clark County Regional Flood Control District

Mr. Frasure heads the Clark County Regional Flood Control District which is responsible for all flood control measures throughout the Las Vegas valley. He spoke to the most recent issues with last year's Kyle Canyon fire and the damage it created 12 miles down hill at a retention basin just west of Providence during last year's flooding during July and August. He said that it is one of three retention basins of its size in the valley and a part of a large flood control system. They are currently working on their larges ($100 million) project near Las Vegas Wash which will help mitigate flooding throughout the entire eastern part of the Valley. To learn more about Mr. Frasure, the Clark County Flood Control District and other flood control measures please visit http:// www.ccrfcd.org.

Little early in the day to be hitting the sauce, don't you think Troy?

Long time no see, Ken and Laurel Smith. Welcome!

"Who gave Bruce Pope the camera?!" Keith Smith asks.

"Vote for me!" District Family Court Judge candidate Vincent Ochoa thinks.

"Shirts for sale! Shirts for sale!" Eric Colvin is trying to unload more shirts.

It's never good to fall asleep mid-announcement, even if you are Mitchell Horst.

"Yep, that's me with Tiger, Charlie and Freddie. . . Ah, the life of Shawn Callahan.

"Easy Rider is the BEST.MOVIE.EVER!" Scott Baranoff REALLY likes his motorcycle.

"Wednesday is tax day! CRAP!" Rebecca Collett remembers she has work to do.

"Hey, ya' think you can get a picture with me and Tiger?" Mr. Frasure whispers to Shawn.

These guys are up to no good.
