Visitors:

Jim Zeiter, guest of the Club

Announcements:

Greenspokes: Tom Martin announced Greenspokes will be at Angel Park Country Club on Wednesday night at 6 p.m. Tom will be hosting a putt-putt competition at 5 p.m.

Happy Feet: Happy Feet will be at Hal Smith Elementary School (5150 East Desert Inn) on Thursday, May 29 at 8:30 a.m. Volunteers are very much needed as many of the usual attendees will not be able to make it.

Steaks&Burgers: Boys & Girls Club: Justin Kalb reported that those who attended the Boys and Girls Club Steak & Burger event had a great time. They gave out 15 scholarships.

2014-2015 Survey: Josh Satterlee mentioned that Troy's year is coming to a close and his year as President will begin in July. As a part of the process, he handed out surveys to everyone to fill out. He will be sending the survey via email as well.

Membership Recognition: The District recognized Rebecca Collett for her exemplary service for membership.

Dan Stover Competition: Mitchell Horst told the club that our Dan Stover entrant, Liam Mansfield, won the district competition at District Conference.

June Recognitions: Troy Lochhead told the Club that recognitions in June will comprise of anyone who wants to shamelessly plug their business or cause can do so for $25.

Recognitions:

Hot dogs, here! Hot Dogs, who wants a hot dog! Ed Guthrie's birthday will comprise of going out on the lake with his grandchildren, that cost Ed $25. But in redeeming fashion, the entire week Ed is scheduled to serve hot dogs at each of Opportunity Village's campuses, which garnered him a $25 credit.

It's not an urban legend . . . Ever thought it was simply paranoid people who put their golf clubs in their pickup cab? Tom Martin no longer thinks so. After placing his clubs in the back of his truck, going in for an after round adult beverage, he came out, got in his truck and drove home only to drop the gate of his truck to find his prized golf clubs to be gone. The Club voted to give him a $20 credit for his misfortune.

Do ya' wanna' rock!?!? Ron Reynolds was once again the financial victim of his son's, Dan, rock star status. This time, his band Imagine Dragons won multiple awards at the Billboard Music Awards including Rock Album of the Year. Ron may be somewhat nonchalant about it, but this, and his son's multiple Grammy's, makes Dan one of the most decorated rock stars in recent memory. For his son's success, Ron was recognized $150.

Going to the chapel and we're gonna' get married . . . Keith Thomas tried to weasel his way out of a $50 recognition by pleading poverty and the expense of his daughters nuptials. It didn't work.

Rebecca: Super Volunteer!!! Rebecca Collett was in Oregon for a Dalmatian dog show where she stayed in a state park for three days, went to the fair grounds and convention center. The person chairing the dog show broke her ankle and Rebecca stepped in and took over and managed the rest of the show/conference. For her good deed she was recognized $100.

Cricket lover! At the Cinco de Mayo celebration, Karen Strawn's husband Tom went on a dried cricket-eating binge (the only one in attendance to do so). For his love of the insect delicacy, Troy presented Karen with a big tub of the culinary treasure. The tub's price tag? $75!!!!

He also spoke to how large asset holders, or wealthy individuals could do better in the way the assign their assets through wills and trusts. An example he gave was the recently deceased movie star Paul Walker where he may have been better served to create a distributed trust as opposed to the will he had drafted.

Just too many jokes to count. Make your own up.

Justin Kalb is far too tan to work full-time ...

I don't think I've ever seen Keith Thomas without a smile ... well there you go. Sean Tanko got the memo tough.

"Who's a lady-killer? This guy!" Mitchell Horst likes the camera.

We got an award!!!! For what, we're not sure, but we got an award!!!!

Rebecca Collett: Membership Superstar!

Ed Guthrie: The Hot Dog Man

Ron Reynolds has a Rock Star son. Yes, this guy!

Still no smile ...

Karen Strawn won't be kissing her husband for a LONG time.

Trust, will, probate, guardianship ... Sean Tanko knows his stuff.
